THOUSANDS OF PLANES

By July, 1928, the Department of Commerce estimates, there will be 1,000 airplanes using the transcontinental airway between New York and San Francisco.

Only 76 of them will be mail planes. Started as a mail route, that great transportation line is expected to be utilized mainly by private enterprise for the swift carrying of passengers and merchandise.

It is a fine example of what may be accomplished by wise governmental pioneering in a new and difficult field. Public enterprise leads, and private enterprise follows, justice, the work and carries it to completion.

Similar development is expected on various other routes which are not yet so well advanced. In the coming year 3,000 miles will be added to the federal-lighted airway. Increased public interest and willingness shown to invest private capital insure rapid progress from now on. Within five years there should be many thousand commercial planes operating on many lines, all over the country, as regular as trains.

NEW LIFE FOR ELECTRIC LINES

Electric interurban railways are coming back. In recent years they have been hard pressed by motor vehicles. Statistics show that the private automobile has given them four times as much competition as the motor bus, and the two combined have made the electric railways' profits vanish and their very existence precarious.

The railways now have got their second wind and are going to fight back, not in any mean way, but by giving better service and by using the most up-to-date sales methods.

First, they are improving the cars themselves, making them better looking and more comfortable. Next, they are advertising extensively and interestingly by means of car card station cards, newspaper publicity, safety meetings, new uniforms for conductors, and so on. They are telling everybody whom they hope it may concern that electric transportation is more dependable in all weather than motor transportation, that it is safer and cheaper, having its own right of way and its own well trained operators.

It is probably true that the electric railways have a real place to fill in the modern transportation system. But in this competitive world they have to do something more than keep their cars moving. The public likes to be told all about what it gets for its money. That's the result of the era of super-advertising and super-salesmanship of recent years.

45 PER MINUTE

The other day President Coolidge broke the record for public handshaking in the Whitehouse. He greeted 1,229 members of the W. C. T. U. and insurance agents, shaking hands with all of them. In 27 minutes, making a record of 45 handshakes per minute.

Poor Mr. Coolidge! This instance is just another evidence of the strain under which the first gentleman of the land must live. No doubt the 1,229 persons who invaded the president's home and thrust themselves upon his time and attention got a big kick out of it, but it's a safe bet that the president failed to derive any pleasure from the meeting.

As for the handshaking, it would be impossible for any person to grasp so many hands in so short a time and really put into his handshake all that a handshake ought to mean. Mr. Coolidge has no doubt been instructed in the art of shaking hands in a way that will cost the least possible effort. He knows better than to let any enthusiastic citizen grip him and cause him pain. Speedy handshaking is an art acquired by public men who are accustomed to meet people en masse.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Author of "You Can," "Take It," "Up."

WE WORK FOR OTHERS

It is impossible for a selfish person to be happy. It is easier for the proverbial camel to pass through the needle's eye.

On the other hand, unhappy persons are not always selfish. All too often they are the most unselfish of human beings.

Embedded, enshrined, protected and deeply beloved, there is in the heart of every noble human being of earth some one other human being who is in the inspiration, the hope, the one giant, who lives as the main spring and life of all aspiration.

After Daniel Webster finished his most notable speech—the masterpiece of his career—he turned to Judge Story and said: "Oh, if Zeke were only here!" Zeke was his dead brother who had been the pal and adviser and inseparable companion of his early years.

"When I sing well, I want you to meet me in the wings of the stage, and taking me in your arms, kiss my cheek, and whisper to me."

masse and who have little time in which to do it. It is fortunate for such men as President Coolidge that there is a scientific way to shake hands speedily and painlessly.

SAVINGS

Bank statistics show that savings accounts in the United States are steadily increasing. According to reports for last year, savings accounts aggregated one-half of the total of bank deposits and reached a figure approximately 100 per cent above the total of such deposits eleven years back. The significance of these facts is that they indicate increase in thrift on the part of those with modest incomes and that they register increase of prosperity in that class.

Competence, in the sense of a sufficient income to insure one the necessities and conveniences of life without daily toil, is a word that has almost disappeared from the spoken language. Probably the term was never good "American." In England where freedom from exacting work and the leisure to follow one's own whims were more appreciated, the word was once in common use. It was a symbol for an ideal at which many young Englishmen aimed, independence, freedom from care, and leisure. Their toil in early days was lightened by the prospect of social security for themselves or their children.

Does the disappearance of the word in America mean also the disappearance of the ideal? The Englishman, it has been said, probably with too sharp a contrast, earns money to save; the American to spend it. The American finds his opportunities so great that he cannot believe in the possibility of his own failure. Nor does he wish to retire from business, or at least not until he is too old to work. He likes rest. Why then should he save? This is not the attitude of too many. The dread of being called a "tightwad" has kept many a young man from practicing an honorable economy.

BALLET REMAINS A RUSSIAN SPECTACLE

MOSCOW (AP)—Russia, the land of the ballet, maintains its dancing spectacles unimpaired in beauty and originality, even though the seats are beyond the reach of the average citizen.

Performances embracing all the old as well as modern ballets are produced nightly at the National Theater here and in Leningrad. Critics assert that for technique, rhythmic beauty of costumes and execution the Russian ballet is unequalled.

Is Serious Profession
In Russia ballet dancing is regarded as a serious profession, on an equal plane with dramatic acting or opera singing. A course of eight years is required before a girl or youth is qualified to take even a minor part in the ensemble.

A large ballet school is maintained by the state, where children from the age of 8 to 16 years are put through a thorough course of gymnastics, calisthenics, dancing, pantomimes, music, acting and esthetic exercises. Exercises of the legs and arms are trained separately, and particular stress is laid on the control and movement of the spine.

Many Contain Five Hundred
Ballet spectacles in which five hundred or six hundred dancers participate are not uncommon in Moscow. The costumes, an heritage from the old Tsarist regime, are of beauty, variety and taste. The settings and scenery, too, are of a high artistic and mechanical order. There is one ballet in which castles, parks, waterfalls, lakes and mountains are shown with impressive effect. In such harmony and coordination do the vast numbers of dancers perform that the audience has the impression of a single great entity on the stage working with precision.

Although the ballet makes a great appeal to the untutored masses, being a spectacle for the eye and not for the intellect, few Russians can afford to patronize it. The price for seats in galleries of the National Theatre at Moscow ranges from 75 cents to $1.50 while a first-class seat costs $4. To offset the expense, trade-unions issue tickets to their members at half-price.

Henry Ruble was a caller in the city yesterday from Alexander.

It was all right." The Great Patti wrote this to her lover.

Unless there is in this world, some one who understands, some one who is noble and great enough to be willing to sacrifice, and give, and remember when it costs a great deal to do so, then no matter what triumphs we attain what success or acclaim, they all wither in meaning, and we remain weary, lonely figures in a world of darkness.

We work for others. Not for the applause of a nation, or a world—but for the approval and appreciation of but one, or at the most but a lovable handful. There is nothing quite so unworthy in a human being as to take without giving in return an adequate, understanding appreciation.

Money, of itself, can never represent the love and warmth of a heart. There must always be behind what we give and do for others, the feel, the struggle, the all of what we are in ourselves.

Communications

In this column the Journal will give space to communications from readers on subjects of general interest. Names of writers must accompany manuscripts even if the names are not printed.

Editor Journal:

As a grand-daughter of a former and longest owner of the now known Pitner Place, which is a wonderful gift for the city of Jacksonville, Illinois, I think I am not going amiss by giving the name and history of property and a sketch of a former owner, Col. James Dunlap: Pitner Place

First Owner. It was entered from the Government by J. M. Fairfield and C. Hackett, year of 1826.

Second Owner. Year of 1827 sold to Murray McConnell.

Third Owner. Year 1828 conveyed to Samuel D. Lockwood. In 1829 Lockwood erected the four north rooms of the present building. He sold the home in 1836, owning and living on property lots 2 and 3; seven years.

Fourth Owner. Truman Post bought lots 2 and 3 in 1836. Mr. Post sold lots 2 and 3 part of Diamond Grove Section; he owned the Dunlap home, now known as Pitner Place 14 years.

Fifth Owner. In 1849 my grand-father, Col. James Dunlap bought the entire Diamond Grove section for miles around the Pitner Place, then known as the Dunlap home, including Diamond Grove Cemetery and south, Maple Dale home and west and north. In 1849 he built on the four rooms making the present large colonial home built after the same style as the old Dunlap Mansions in Kentucky and Virginia. Many of the trees, brick and rafters were brought overland from Kentucky by oxen team. Col. James Dunlap sold lots 2 and 3; Dunlap home of Diamond Grove Section in the year 1881—he owning the property 32 years. For years after Col. James Dunlap bought the Diamond Grove section (Dunlap home, now Pitner Place). Every year he would give a picnic upon the beautiful grounds to relatives and friends, many number of times as many as 800 people have congregated, in honor of the Rev. James Dunlap, his father, assembling every July 4th.

Memories of Col. James Dunlap
Col. James Dunlap was born in Fleming County, Kentucky on Oct. 30, 1802. He arrived in Jacksonville in the year of 1830 on July 4th, having on November 9, 1823, been united in marriage to Elizabeth Treman, who died January 1879.

Upon locating in Jacksonville, Col. James Dunlap engaged in mercantile pursuits until 1838, when he formed a partnership with Thomas T. Janbury and contracted to construct the first railroad in the state of Illinois—a line fifty-six miles in length between Springfield and Meredosia.

In 1847 Col. Dunlap was elected a member of the Constitutional Convention to amend the state constitution and stocks, and continued as a farmer and stock dealer until 1861 on the property then known as the "Diamond Grove Section" (now known as Maple Dale's Fairview) and miles around.

In 1839 he bought property on West State Street and in 1856 he built on his property the Dunlap Hotel (which was his homestead grounds) and which has since been the hotel of the city, until the new Dunlap Hotel was built. This was only one of the monuments of his liberality and love for the improvement of Jacksonville. He labored earnestly and effectively for the location of the State Institutions for the Deaf and Dumb, Blind, and Insane and was director for years. He was an intimate friend of Lincoln, Douglas, Yates, Baker, Logan and other prominent men.

At the outbreak of the Civil War he entered the Union Army and was appointed chief quartermaster of the Thirtieth Army Corps by President Lincoln. He served until 1864, being constantly at the front as the Army advanced south. His operations with the government were on the largest scale, but to his honor be it said that every dollar was accounted for and the books honorably balanced. Among the persons having titles from the Mexican War was Col. James Dunlap. The young men of Jacksonville began to organize some military companies first called the "Lighting Light Guards." The Second Civil War—Col. James Dunlap as Captain and drilled and in Col. Dunlap's pasture south of the Pitner Place.

Col. James Dunlap was a good citizen—a man honored abroad as well as at home. Retiring from the army he returned to the city, where he spent the rest of his life, dying at his home, The Dunlap home, July 9, 1879, at seventy-seven years of age.

Sixth Owner—Year of 1881, Robert D. Russell.

Seventh Owner—1884 property conveyed to John M. Ritten.

Eighth Owner—1897 property conveyed to Thomas J. Pitner.

Ninth Owner—1899 property conveyed to Elsie A. Pitner.

Tenth Owner—1927 property gift to Illinois College.

This was written by Col. James Dunlap's grand-daughter, and daughter of Charles James Dunlap, Elizabeth Dunlap Christie, Chicago, Ill.

Editor Journal:

The fire in the west side studio of the College of Music reminds one of a somewhat historic spot. The corner was for years owned by Isaac D. Rawlings, a veteran clothing merchant at a time when J. W. Larhop, Joe O. King, J. W. King, Wm. Branson, M. P. and A. E. Ayers, J. H. and Horace Bancroft, T. D. Eams, Jos. Tomlinson, Wm. Batekin, Matthew Stacey, Anderson, Foreman, A. C. Wadsworth, John and Wesley Mathers, W. P. Barr, B. E. William, and Fleming Stevenson and many others were the active men of their day.

Mr. Rawlings was a veteran of the Mexican war and was wounded and much of the time as he walked he held his right hand against his side where the wound had weakened his body. He had five children, Isaac, Jr., Dan W., Miss Lizzie, Mrs. Haven Hill and Mrs. J. K. Combs.

After the old gentleman's death his older son carried on the business for a number of years. Dan W. had a clothing store in the room, I think, now occupied by R. T. Cassell and Miller Weir clerked for him for a time.

The family home was an old fashioned, one-story structure and, I remember, when a member of the firm of Clendenen & Nichols, photographers, somewhere in the 1880's, the family had a picture made of it before it was to be removed or torn away to make room for the present commodious structure.

Mr. Rawlings and his daughter, Miss Lizzie, were firm supporters of the First Baptist church and faithful in the performance of every kind of Christian duty.

I well remember, too, the old wooden structures which stood on the west side of the square and extended from the Hatch drug store to State street. At one time a cheap hotel known as the Western House, was conducted in the second stories. Fred and Charles Hayden had a store in one of the lower rooms and the late J. C. Carver clerked for them.

Then the bank of W. & E. W. Brown was moved from the east side to the west side and occupied the corner and later became the Central Illinois Banking and Saving Association with Lyman L. Adams at the head, W. E. Veitch, cashier, D. Rees Browning, teller and C. C. Capps, bookkeeper.

YOUR INCOME TAX

No. 18

To the taxpayer whose gross or net income for 1926 was $5,000 or less, and was derived chiefly from salary or wages, the problem of correctly making out an income-tax return is not difficult. Such returns are made on Form 1040A, a single sheet. Persons, of any part of whose net income, regardless of amount, was derived from a business or profession, including farming, are required to use the larger form, 1040.

The gross income of the usual business consists of the gross profits on sales, plus any income from investments and incidental or outside operations or sources. The return must show the gross sales, purchases, and cost of goods sold. To reflect net income correctly, inventories are necessary at the beginning and end of each tax year.

The lawyer, doctor, architect, author, dentist, clergyman, or other professional man must, in addition to his professional services.

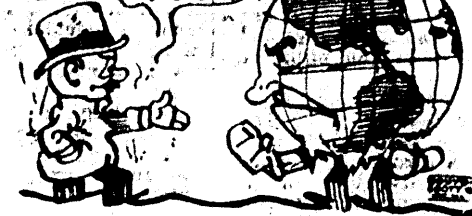

The farmer is required to report as gross income all profit derived from the sale or exchange of farm products and livestock, whether produced on the farm or purchased and resold. The fair market value of merchandise (groceries) exchanged for farm products must be included; also profit from renting a farm on a crop-sharing basis and the rent and sale of farm lands.

CRABTREE TO DROP MUNICIPAL LEAGUE REINS AT MEETING

Jacksonville's Mayor Will Retire From Presidency of Illinois League

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Home rule, the gasoline tax, city manager plan of government, public health and other subjects of interest to city rulers will be discussed by leading figures at the convention here Feb. 10 of the Illinois Municipal League.

E. E. Crabtree, mayor of Jacksonville and president of the league, will announce his retirement from the presidency in his annual address. He has been president of the league for several years and credited with being instrumental in its growth.

Addresses and discussions on tentative legislative measures include the proposed gasoline tax; proposed bills for licensing electrical contractors by municipalities; and contemplated changes in control of public utilities.

Talk On Gas Tax

The meeting will be opened Feb. 9 with a speech by Alexander Wilson, state representative from the 30th district, Cairo, on the proposed tax on gasoline in its relation to city streets on state highways. Responsibilities of municipalities for public health service will be discussed by R. K. Richardson, head of the division of public health, and State Fire Marshal John B. Gamber will talk on the proposed bills for licensing electrical contractors by municipalities.

Various angles of the home rule problem will be discussed in the afternoon session. Proposed municipal legislation will be outlined by Leon Harnstein, assistant corporation counsel of Chicago; Prof. Charles K. Merriam will trace the history of the struggle for home rule by Illinois cities; and Harry C. Hoyl, corporation counsel of Peoria, will give his opinion as to why Illinois cities wish to preserve home rule. These addresses will be followed by an open forum on home rule.

Mencken May Speak

A speech by Mayor William E. Dever of Chicago is scheduled for the annual banquet of the league the evening of Feb. 9. H. L. Mencken, New York literary critic has been tentatively engaged as speaker for this occasion.

General problems of city administration will be taken up at the morning session Feb. 10, and the afternoon will be devoted to the annual business of the league. Speakers in the morning session include Miller McClintock, director of the Chicago street traffic survey; Leonard D. White, professor of political science of the University of Chicago; and H. T. Sewell, head of the department of business organization and operation of the University of Illinois.

COMMUNISTS HAVE NO PLACE IN MINE UNION SAYS LEWIS

The discussion of the communist amendment provoked a persistent heckling of speakers for and against the proposition. "Back to Russia," shouted several delegates, when a speaker tonight sought to oppose the amendment.

Another delegate asked why members of the Fascist were not denied membership.

Explains Reason

"There is no evidence of Fascist influence in the mine workers," Van A. Bittner, secretary of the constitution committee replied.

Asked to explain the result of the union's investigation of communist activity, President Lewis said the communist party was both political and social.

"We have found the communists have sought to destroy unionism and we have encountered their work in several districts," Lewis said.

Henry Burr, Pittsburgh, Kansas, secretary of District No. 14, asked that the union go further and expel all holding radical beliefs regarding organized labor. "I believe this amendment would be unanimously adopted if it was not for the paid organizers of communism now in this convention," declared O. J. Owings, Cambridge, Ohio.

COMMITTEE DEFERS ACTION ON SMITH CASE

argued that every day the senate refused to accept them it unlawfully deprived Illinois of its constitutional rights to equal representation in the senate with the other states.

Question Unsolved

Both former Solicitor General Beck and the Illinois attorney general declared the decision in the Smith case would not end the controversy that has arisen between the states and the senate on the question of the qualifications of the ambassadors the states send to Washington.

Carrying the committee back to the days of the constitutional convention Mr. Beck read portions of the debate then to support his contention that the qualifications referred to in the constitution were those enumerated in that document and that so long as those qualifications were met, the states could elect who they "damned please" to the senate.

Both Beck and Carlstrom went over the testimony before the Reedy committee regarding the contributions made by Samuel Insull, Chicago utilities operator to Smith's campaign fund and argued that these contributions were not unlawful then and were not unlawful now.

May Set Precedent

Counsel pointed out that Smith had been elected by more than 70,000 majority after these contributions had been disclosed; contended that there had been no suspicion of any irregularity in the election and that there had been charges against Smith nor any contest instituted.

Carlstrom declared that aside from the irreparable damage the senate would do to Smith as a man, the senate in refusing to send him would be establishing a precedent under which in the future a state might be from time to time for political damage be deprived of its constitutional representation in the senate. Beck said that in refusing Smith a seat the senate would be imposing upon him "punitive vengeance of the most ruthless kind."

"I think Colonel Smith would rather die," he added, than suffer the stigma of your declaration that he should never hold office for an act that was not illegal when done and not illegal today.

"I know the great danger in the use of money in politics. There is danger that our country, which is becoming stupendously rich, may become stupendously rotten. Out of the Reed committee report and out of this controversy let us hope that there will come some reform of the political game."

"I do not know what Colonel Smith's fate will be, but whatever it is, it will not end this controversy. Those who think sentiment is all against Colonel Smith are mistaken. There are evidences of the most healthy thing I have seen in 50 years, a ground swell of feeling that political centralization of this government has gone too far and that it is about time the states were reasserting their sovereignty."

Carlstrom told the committee that if it went into the matter of Insull's contributions, evidence would be presented to show that during the five years the senator-designate was chairman of the Illinois Commerce Commission thousands of orders had been issued without any suggestion of suspicion against one of them and that they had involved rate reductions against the Insull and other companies totalling many millions of dollars.

Looks to 1928 Election

While not participating in the senate debate, Senator Edwards, Democratic, New Jersey declared in a statement later that the Democratic prohibition and Mexican debate was contributing to the re-election of President Coolidge and was making it hopeless for a Democratic victory in 1928.

"With an ex-Democratic Secretary of the treasury boldly charging three of the most powerful Democratic and near Democratic states in the union with being nullificationists and controlled by corrupt machine politicians of the Jefferson School," he said, "and a United States senator using his towering voice against the Catholic element in the party of Jackson and Wilson, the Democratic party is waging a hopeless battle for white house supremacy in 1928."

INSPECTORS PATROL VERMONT BORDER FOR LIQUOR SMUGGLERS

Officers Guard More Than 100 Country Roads to Stop Runners

St. Albans, Vt. (AP)—Customs inspectors patrolling the Vermont-Canada border travelled 40,000 miles farther than from the earth to the moon in 1926, and have as exciting tales to tell of their experiences as the famous imagination of Baron Munchausen was able to invent.

The Vermont-New Hampshire section of the border is a concentration point for rum runners, since Canadian provinces to the east and west are dry or comparatively so. The breaking up of Rum Row by the Coast guard turned the attention of liquor smugglers to this tempting, isolated region of mountains, lakes, forests, and winding roads, and the labor of federal agents increased manifold.

The inspectors, however, not only hunted and captured rum runners, but sought and seized as contraband smuggled furs, lace, diamonds, narcotics, and even pack-horses and submarines. One border patrolman lost his life, another was wounded in a gunfight during a midnight chase of a suspected rum runner, and 137 seized automobiles attest to the vigilance of the federal agents.

Officers Guard Roads

The officers guard more than 100 country roads, and the main railroads from Quebec and Montreal. Litter houses, blind pines, and illicit liquor dispensaries dot the border just across from the American side. Smugglers have maintained an efficient detective system to spy on the American patrolmen.

Hair breadth escapes have been frequent as rum laden automobiles, sometimes equipped with motor boats on Lake Champlain, have yielded large alcoholic cargoes, and pack horses, sleighs, and wagons have contributed their quota. Nearly $125,000 worth of diamonds, weighing 1,000 carats, were seized in 1926. Only a comparatively small amount of narcotics was confiscated.

DRY LAW ASSAILED BY SENATOR REED AT ATHLETIC MEET

He urged that the ballot box be kept free from contamination.

"I would rather catch a ballot box thief than a boot-legger," he exclaimed.

Laurel Athletes Among noted athletes at the dinner none was accorded more attention than Tris Speaker, billed as "America's greatest outfielder," and Eddie Collins, recently back in the Athletics' fold who was introduced as America's greatest second baseman.

Tris followed the former White Sox star and made a brief speech. Collins had previously declared he had urged Speaker to "hook on" with the club that's going to go down the home stretch a winner next fall.

"It is not unlikely, that I will take the advice of a man who has had a few months more experience in baseball than I, and hook onto the white elephant club," he has not announced definitely where he will play in 1927.

Among others who attended the dinner were representatives of the Naval Academy football team, Penn State College cross country team and hundreds of champions in all branches of sport.

BOYS PAROLED FROM STATE SCHOOL MAKE GOOD OUT IN WORLD

St. Charles Superintendent States Fifty-Four Per Cent Good

BEAVERDEER, Ill. (AP)—Of the 8,500 boys paroled from the St. Charles training school for delinquent boys, more than 4,000 have "made good" as useful members of society, in the opinion of Frank D. Whipp, superintendent of the school.

Speaking before the rotary club here, Mr. Whipp cited an increase in the last three years over the three years preceding of boys making good on parole. For the first time in three years, he said, the annual average of boys making good was 52 per cent, and during the last three years it has been 54 per cent. The statistics are based on reports from home visitors, community agents, and the communities in which the boys locate.

Statistics of the school also indicate a decrease in more serious crimes committed by minors, said Mr. Whipp.

"One of the serious crimes is burglary," said Mr. Whipp. "In the last three years, the average of 26 boys committed annually to the school for burglary; while in the three preceding years, an average of 63 a year were received on the same charge. This indicates an improvement in the class of boys received."

"However, there have been increases in other crimes. Those charged with plain robbery for the first three years averaged 9 each year; and in the last three the average has been 43. And in the last three years, four boys have been committed charged with manslaughter; while none were received on that charge in the three preceding years. The number charged with larceny, embezzlement, forgery and confidence games has materially increased."

"These figures indicate that boys of our state are making an improvement in their conduct, notwithstanding the glaring report of crime published throughout the country."

"The St. Charles school, maintained by the state, is now caring for 750 boys from 10 to 16 years old, and received there from almost every county in the state."

BRITISH WILL GIVE CHINESE ALL REQUESTS

no new treaty, for a treaty can only be signed with a recognized government of the whole China.

"We cannot recognize Canton as the government of China only for this would be to recognize the division of China which every Chinese, whatever his party, would resist," declared Sir Austen, insisting on the need of maintaining strict impartiality toward the contending Chinese armies.

"We cannot recognize the claim of Canton to be the government of the whole of China for this would not be in addition to the facts for Canton controls hardly a third of China."

Cantonese Policy Hinders
"The Chinese themselves must decide the question and foreign recognition must conform to the realities of the situation."

The secretary admitted that the anti-British policy of the Cantonese was an additional difficulty in dealing with them and discussed at length the reasons why Great Britain was singled out for attack. He protested that the so-called opium war which had opened China to foreign trade, was no more an opium war than the American war of independence was a tea war.

Declaring that alien influences did not hesitate to preach to the Chinese that the British were more responsible than any other people for Chinese woes, Sir Austen said that undoubtedly the anti-British cry was the most dangerous factor in the present situation.

Proceeding to outline recent events at Hankow, he characterized the seizure of the British concessions as an outrageous and unjustifiable attack on the long established rights of a peaceful British commercial community and combined with a similar outrage at Kiukiang, proved there was no guarantee of safety for British lives under the authority of the Cantonese government in the present revolutionary state of affairs.

MOTHER TAKES POISON
AFTER SHOOTING GIRL

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 29. (AP)—An unsigned note, bearing a message of love for some unidentified person was the only clue police had tonight to the treaty which sent two young women, a 25 year old widow and her 16 year old married daughter to a hospital.

Mrs. Hattie Fry took poison after she had shot her daughter, Mrs. James C. Oakley, a bride of four months, thru both lungs at their home in East Nashville this morning. Hospital officials said Mrs. Fry probably would recover but that her daughter had only a fighting chance for life. No motive for Mrs. Fry's acts could be given by neighbors or the younger woman's husband, James C. Oakley, 19. A typewritten note found under a typewriter in the home read:

"Dear Sweetheart:
"Am just writing to let you know how much I love you. You don't know how I miss you tonight."

Young Oakley, who was at work in a department store, told police he knew of no trouble between his wife and her mother.

HOLD MAN FOR SHOOTING BROTHER

Herrin, Ill., Jan. 29. (AP)—Victor Kemp, 40, was killed today by a bullet alleged to have been fired by his brother, Will, who was arrested and taken to the county jail at Marion. He refused to make a statement. Both were miners. Victor was a bachelor and boarded with his brother and family.

THREE BOY COASTERS
AND FATHER DROWNED

SPOKANE, Wash., Jan. 29. (AP)—Three boy coasters were drowned in northern Idaho and the father of one of the boys lost his life while attempting a rescue. John Beaver, 7, went thru the thin ice of the Coeur d'Alene river near Harrison, Idaho, and was drowned with his father, William Beaver, who tried to reach him.

On the St. Joe river near St. Maries, Idaho, John Hergert, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hergert, lost his life after coasting down a hill onto the river and Jean Sargeant, 7, was drowned in the Okanogan river near Omak, Washington.

"More Claptrap"
"That sort of stuff is nothing but mere claptrap," he said, "and another illustration of McAdoo's illdo. It shows that some people are dead and do not even know they are dead."

Senator King of Utah came to the defense of the former treasury secretary and was joined by Senators Glass, of Virginia, and Caraway of Arkansas, who pointed to Mr. McAdoo's record as secretary of the treasury as proving his judgment and worth.

Senator Copeland of New York coming to the support of the Maryland senator asserted that New York favored the 18th amendment but wanted the Volstead act amended, this representing the views of the state and its governor.

"Do I understand the senator as saying that Al Smith favors the Volstead act," inquired Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho. "Governor Smith believes in enforcing the Volstead act as long as it is upon statute books," retorted Copeland.

After paying tribute to Mr. McAdoo, Senator Caraway summed up the argument of Smith proponents as meaning: "they wanted to modify the Volstead act so that a person can get drunk without violating the law."

GERMAN PRINCESS TO MOVE TO OLD PALACE

BERLIN, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Tageblatt today says that Princess Hermine, wife of the former Emperor William, is planning to move into the old palace of William First, on Unter den Linden, in Berlin, as "the possible vanguard to the former kaiser's advent in Berlin."

Princess Hermine hopes, the paper says, by occupying the historic quarters venerated by the emperor or to score other members of the royal family, with whom she has never been on the best of terms.

The ex-kaiser's former chamberlain, Count Platen, recently demanded of the Prussian minister of finance immediate evacuation of the Palace as orders had been received from Doorn, where William Hohenzollern resides to renovate the palace at once and installing electric bathing and heating facilities. The minister, the Tageblatt says, refused on the ground that by the Prussian settlement with the Hohenzollerns he was responsible for the palace. Hermine's residence in the palace, comments the paper, would be indicated to serve the purpose of smoothing the way for William's return, which it declares never has been seriously considered an impossibility at Doorn.

"First, the kaiser's wife is to come and open the palace doors," says the Tageblatt, and then it is believed it would be an easy matter for her husband to follow."

RADIO COMPROMISE
APPROVED BY HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—The compromise radio control bill, worked out by conferees was approved today by the house. The senate has not yet acted on it. The compromise bill would provide for creation of an independent commission to handle all radio matters, such as issuing broadcasting licenses and the assignment of wave lengths, for one year. After that these powers would be transferred to the secretary of commerce with the board acting as a judicial body in event of disputes.

House action came after Representative Bloom of New York and Davis of Tennessee, Democrats declared the compromise would enable radio companies to charge persons for listening in on home sets. They contended that a device recently perfected by the bureau of standards would enable companies to so regulate broadcasting that individuals would have to buy new attachments for their sets.

ATTORNEYS QUESTION
CHAPLIN'S LAWYER

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 29 (AP)—Attorneys for Lita Gray Chaplin today failed to gain any information of Charles Spencer Chaplin's financial affairs or assets from Lloyd Wright, attorney for Chaplin Studios, Inc., when he appeared under subpoena to make a deposition in the case.

The reading of a printed paragraph to the effect that he refused to answer was Wright's only reply to more than 200 questions put by Lyndol Young, chief of Mrs. Chaplin counsel. Any other answer might be revealing privileged "secrets" between attorney and client it was stated.

Curtis as to just what the president had in mind with regard to further disarmament, Senator

Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, interjected:

"I wish you gentlemen who speak for the president would get together and agree what the president has in mind. One of you say he thinks one thing and the other says he doesn't think anything."

This remark was made after Hale had declared he believed the president looked to Geneva for the next move toward another arms conference and Curtis had said Mr. Coolidge had clearly indicated he was attempting to bring about another meeting similar to the Washington conference.

MODISH MITZI

A Successful Raid at Night.

By Jay V. Jay

The dinner party was a success. Mitzi's dress was ravishing—every one said so. But that does not dull the fact that Mitzi can't go to sleep because she is—hungry. That's why she is about to throw her robe over these fascinating silk pajamas with the very pretty rosebud embroidery.

"You must be hungry, Polly, you simply must be," stage whispers Mitzi. A midnight feast is no fun alone, besides it looks very dark down stairs and there might be mice. Polly shivers a moment in her silk pajamas with applique of oranges. If Mitzi is going somewhere of course she will go with her.

This is one of the famous night raids you hear about. It's sort of a very private night club and the only person disturbed about it will be the cook in the morning. Adelaide is leaning on the bedpost and a letter scandalously in hand. We hope she won't spill mayonnaise on her negligee of gold lace combined with georgette.

Mitzi occupies the center of the stage, as usual, in her mental brocade robe with deep marabouuffed sleeves. Polly, in her coolie coat, with the deep border holds forth on why dinner parties should have more dinner and less conversation.

CLAIM GIRLS ARE NO SMARTER THAN MEN IN COLLEGES

Base Assumption on Tests Made by Psychology Professors

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., (AP)—High school and college girls are not really smarter than boys. Their apparent superiority is due to inefficient marking systems which emphasize the wrong things.

Donald G. Patterson, head of the department of psychology, and T. A. Langlie, instructor in psychology at the University of Minnesota, join in this theory of why sister can out-smart brother in the classroom. Patterson and Langlie studied the question and made a report on it.

"We believe," the said, "these peculiar sex differences in marks are due to constant tendency to over-rate the achievement of girls. In other words, we believe that objective measurements of achievement would present in part such over-rating of the girls."

Grade System At Fault

They explain this statement by asserting that irrelevant factors enter into the old-style method of awarding marks arbitrarily.

Data obtained from twin city high schools in which teachers were asked to rate the ability of their pupils were used as the basis for part of the study. Of these the Minnesota psychologists say:

"If girls are more successful than boys in impressing their teachers as being more enthusiastic, more conscientious in getting work done promptly, more industrious, etc., then they would receive higher marks even though their greater display these traits does not lead to greater achievement. That just sort of subtle influence is operative is indicated by certain data on social trait ratings of high school seniors by their teachers.

"Analysis of these ratings shows that teachers' ratings agree with intelligence tests in showing a difference in 'ability to learn' in favor of the boys; a difference in the direction, but almost negligible 'initiative'; difference in favor of girls in 'industry' (perseverance application), scholastic zeal (interest in books, independent study), 'punctuality' (observance of punctuality), and 'faithfulness' (capacity for college work)."

Professors Patterson and Langlie point out that intelligence tests almost invariably, that the ability of boys to learn is greater in a variety of cases than that of the girls, despite the contradictory result girls wind up the college year the higher grades.

TWO ACCUSED OF CAR THEFTS LOSE ALIBIS

Springfield Boys Brought Here are Identified—Girl Charges They Were in On Auto Stealings—Plumber Car Stolen.

Officers of the Springfield detective force brought to this city yesterday for identification two youths who have been implicated in the theft of two cars, one in Springfield and one here, which are said to have occurred Friday, January 21. The two men, Clarence Maloney and Jack Ledford, were accused of the thefts by Helen Thomas, who was released from custody of local police two days ago and taken to Springfield by her parents.

Local police said last night that both Ledford and Maloney, who told Springfield officers that they were in that city last Friday, were positively identified yesterday by some half dozen local residents who said they had seen the youths here on that date. The Thomas girl is said to have told officers that the boys took part in the theft of a Springfield car belonging to O. O. Fry, and that after reaching this city, they took another car belonging to John Condon, which was later discovered in Springfield.

Ledford and Maloney have been charged with the theft of the Springfield car and have been placed under bonds of $2,500 each in that city to await trial in the Sagamon circuit court.

Last night a Dodge car belonging to Frank Ploner was taken from its parking place near the southeast corner of the square. It was later found by local police abandoned at the corner of Superior avenue and South East street. The theft was evidently the work of joy riders.

MILLER RITES ARE HELD AT FRANKLIN

Funeral services for Thomas Miller, long time resident of Franklin were conducted Saturday afternoon at the Franklin Methodist church in charge of Rev. T. S. Mitchell. Interment was in Franklin cemetery.

The music was furnished by a ladies' quartet composed of Mesdames E. F. Seymour, O. W. Gould, J. A. Williamson and T. S. Mitchell and a duet "The Old Rugged Cross" was sung by Mrs. M. L. Anderson and Mrs. J. A. Williamson. Mrs. Viron Ranson was at the piano.

The flowers were cared for by Mrs. George Jolly, Mrs. Burley Wright, Mrs. Frank Reazel and Mrs. Michel Wright.

The bearers were M. B. Keplinger, George Boulware, George Jolly, J. L. Seymour, F. H. Metcalf and Louis Roberts.

NEW AIR POSTAGE RATE EFFECTIVE

A new rate on postage on air mail will become effective February 1, 1927. The new rate does away with the existing practice of "zoning" air mail matter over the transcontinental and overnight routes and also the different rates applying to contract air mail routes.

Special airplane stamps issued for the payment of postage on air mail or ordinary postage stamps may be used. All mail intended to be carried by airplane should be plainly marked in the space immediately below the stamps and above the address "Via air mail."

MRS. JOS. GREEN
DIES IN CALIFORNIA
Word was received recently of the death of Mrs. Joseph Kingsbury Green at San Diego, California, January 19, 1927. Mrs. Green, whose maiden name was Miss Meyer was a teacher of modern languages in the Jacksonville Female Academy in the early eighties. Doubtless many of the Academy graduates will remember her. After leaving the Jacksonville Female Academy she went to Japan, under appointment as a missionary by the American Board. Later, after marrying Dr. J. K. Green who had been for many years a missionary in Turkey, she returned with her husband to Constantinople. Mrs. Green leaves five stepsons and a son Dr. Theodore N. Green of the Department of Philosophy of Princeton University, New Jersey.

ADVOCATE TEACHING CRIMINALS TRADES TO PREVENT CRIME

Federation of Labor Head Tells Police and Attorneys Plans

CHICAGO, Jan. 29. (AP) — To prevent prisoners from coming out of penal institutions as bad or worse than when they went in, they should be taught trades and paid wages equivalent to those paid in these trades outside, John H. Walker, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor declared here today.

Mr. Walker suggested this plan in an address before state's attorneys, chiefs of police, and other law enforcement officials, and members of the special committee on fire arms regulation of the national crime commission and of the Illinois association of Criminal Justice.

He also pleaded for the separation of men and women serving their first terms from old timers in prisons and reformatories.

"It is a crime to put boys and girls, young men and women, serving for their first offense in in confinement with hardened criminals," Mr. Walker declared. "When this is done they cannot help but come out more criminal than when they went in, or at least with a stronger criminal sympathy, instead of being reformed."

Require Prisoners to Work
We should recognize that many of those who turn to crime have done so because they were unable to earn an honest living by reasons of environment, lack of training, and other such causes. If we put such a person in jail we ought to do nothing there but try to make him a decent citizen for the future.

"Criminals should be required to work in prison, but they should be paid wages for their work. From these wages should be deducted enough to cover their own keep, their families should receive part of their wages and if anything is left at time of release it should be given the prisoner to help him get a fresh start in life. If every criminal was taught a trade and paid the same wages as men in that trade outside the prisons, it would not hurt the free men, and a lot of men who otherwise would return to crime upon their release would instead begin an honest living in the trade they had learned. This would not be in conflict with the labor union policy on convict labor."

We are opposed to convict labor only because wages are not paid it produces unfair competition with free labor. The state using the products of prison labor under the plan I suggest should pay full market value and place the surplus on the market, which would provide funds for paying the wages."

WERFS TO GIVE LAST WORD ON PLANT FUND

E. J. Wert of the Frybodies Adding Machine Co., is expected to be in this city Monday to give his final answer as to whether his company will accept the fund of $40,000 raised by the Chamber of Commerce for the building of a factory in Jacksonville. Mr. Wert will meet and confer with a committee headed by Lee A. Sullivan. The meeting will be held at 7:30 o'clock Monday night at the Chamber of Commerce.

The company originally asked the city for $55,000 with which to erect a plant. After an extended campaign it was found the entire amount could not be secured, and the subscribed fund of $40,000 was offered to the company by the committee. The company has been notified that its answer must be in the hands of the committee by February 1, as other disposition is to be made of the fund if it is not accepted.

It is understood that officials of the company have been seeking locations in other cities, but it is not known whether they have been successful. The entire matter will be settled at the meeting Monday night.

AUTO SMASH ENDS IN MAN'S ARREST

County officers went to Roodhouse yesterday and brought back Harry E. Ruyle on a warrant sworn out by Frank Wilner. The warrant charged Ruyle with driving a car while intoxicated. Ruyle was arraigned before Justice A. B. Opperman and a preliminary hearing was set for February 4.

It appears that recently Wilner was driving a car from Springfield to this city along the hard road. He alleges that he met Ruyle and a party of friends driving east, and that both cars were on their respective sides of the right of way. As the cars approached, according to Wilner, Ruyle's machine swerved directly in front of him and a collision resulted. Both cars were badly damaged, but none of the occupants of either was injured. Wilner's car was completely disabled.

Witnesses who saw Ruyle on the night of the accident allege that he was in an intoxicated condition. Ruyle gave bond for his appearance at the hearing next Friday.

L. F. O'DONNELL SUFFERS FRACTURE OF ARM

L. F. O'Donnell of the O'Donnell Motor company on East Court street, suffered a broken bone in his right arm recently when an air pressure tank which he was operating exploded.

Mr. O'Donnell was operating the tank when it unexpectedly exploded and he threw up his hand to protect his face from the flying pieces of the tank and it was then that his arm was struck and broken by a flying parcel of the tank. He was immediately protected and he would have received serious facial injuries. The force of the blow knocked him to the ground.

SUNDAY MORNING, JANUARY 30, 1927

CRYSTALLIZATION OF WAGE SENTIMENT IS FACED BY WORKERS

Bituminous Wage Scale for Three Years to Expire March 31.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Crystallizing sentiment on wages and working conditions is the major task confronting representatives of the 500,000 members of the United Mine Workers of America, who will meet here in convention, January 25th. Fifteen hundred or more delegates will come from all parts of the United States, from Nova Scotia and British Columbia. The convention, held biennially, usually are in session ten days or two weeks.

The present wage scale for bituminous fields, effected by the miners and operators at Jacksonville, Fla., three years ago expires on March 31. On February 14 at Miami, Fla., the scale committee on the soft coal miners will meet the scale committee of the operators of the central competitive field to consider wages and working conditions. The miners committee will receive instructions as to procedure from the Indianapolis convention.

A miners convention has not been held since 1924, the regular one for 1925 having been postponed because the wage problems could not be discussed until this year when the present agreement expires.

The present basic wage for soft coal workers is $7.50 a day. This rate has been in effect since 1920 when the United States coal commission adjusted differences between the miners and operators. The Jacksonville conference continued the agreement another three years.

To Adjust Wages The Miami conference is to adjust wages only for the central competitive field which comprises Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and West Virginia. It, however, in effect sets the scale for the entire bituminous industry as other fields follow the lead of the central which is the largest producer of soft coal.

The Indianapolis convention will be made up of delegates from both the anthracite and bituminous workers, but the former will have no part in the wage discussion. The anthracite men made their agreements separately. Their present contract, arrived at last year, is in force until 1930.

All matters of policy will be decided upon by the miners' delegates. The time expired today for the receipt of resolutions, grievances and propositions to change the constitution, as these must be in the hands of the secretary ten days before the convention.

Miners officials will not comment upon the possible trend of the wage discussion at the convention, declaring as John L. Lewis, the president, puts it: "It would be injudicious for either miners or operators to venture before the Miami conference, its ideas of the proper wage terms. And were such a venture to be made, it would be a hazardous guess."

The miners are expected to agree to ask the operators to aid them in demanding an adjustment of the West Virginia and eastern Kentucky coal fields in competitive territory.

There undoubtedly will be a general discussion of British miners and the result of their strike last year, which to some extent increased the market for American coal and brought about the reopening of many mines in this country.

TURN CATHEDRAL GOLD INTO RUSSIAN COINS

LENNINGRAD, (AP)—Gold and silver from the famous Cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul is replenishing the soviet's coffers.

Many articles of the metals, including the intricately wrought wreaths of pure gold representing funerary offerings to the royal dead from the Russian people and from foreign sovereigns, have been removed by the state authorities and melted into coin.

Jewels Also Removed Even the jewels and semi-precious stones which embellished the granite tomb have been removed, leaving only the holes in which they were set.

The historic edifice built by Peter the Great and containing all of Russia's imperial dead from the time of that monarch to Czar Alexander III, has been converted into a museum by the Bolshevik authorities, who charge the public entrance admission. But there is little to see in the cathedral beyond the sepulchral bones of the nation's mouldering sovereigns.

Peter's Gold Boat Gone American visitors familiar with the cathedral before the Bolshevik revolution have noticed the disappearance of the gold model of the first boat built by Peter the Great which hung over the monarch's tomb for 150 years. Presumably this prized piece, which was of pure gold, has like many other rare objects, been converted into "coin" for the soviet state treasury or removed to a museum. The golden crosses, ikons, candelabras, and holy incense lamps have also been removed.

In sharp contrast to the glittering exterior of the old church whose slender golden spire points like a giant finger toward heaven, is the naked interior. Once imperial Russia's "Pantheon," it now resembles an abandoned monastery. Its walls formerly covered with hundreds of resplendent wreaths, garlands and other tokens of pure gold and silver, are bereft of everything except the nails that held the ornaments. The elaborate gold and silver trimmings which once made the altar glitter brilliantly under thousands of candles, are no longer seen.

PASSAVANT HOSPITAL OFFICERS MAKE REPORTS

The following reports were given at the annual meeting of the Passavant hospital board recently: Report General Supt.

To the Board of Trustees of Passavant Memorial Hospital:

I want to make the following report for the year 1926. As I have not had the pleasure of being with you a year, eight months of my report is taken from the records of my able predecessor.

The number of patients at the hospital has continued to increase as the number of days' care this year is 26.7 larger than any previous year.

Our average cost for taking care of a patient for a day during the year was $3.10, or .57 a day less than last year.

On December 31, 1926 the books show an amount in the bank over vouchers drawn of $7.90.

Revenue and earnings for 1926—

Operating income $86,846.14

Cash Donations 230.78

Petty cash vouchers 1,169.88

Money transferred from other accounts 2,615.49

..... $90,862.29

Expenses $73,235.78

Charity 21,235.26

..... $94,507.04

Operating Loss $ 3,444.84

Our Medical Report shows the total number of diseases treated 1,796, which is subdivided into 125 clinical divisions.

We have changed our system of bookkeeping and in the future we can give you a detailed statement as to the expenses and income of operating the various departments.

In December we kept a record of all the free work done during the month and found it amounted to $1,585.83. It is only by the cooperation of the various Aid Societies with their donations of money, food, and sewing that we are able to do this charity work.

The pathological laboratory is being used more and more in the diagnosis of diseases. Six thousand two hundred and ninety-five examinations were made during the year, or 527 more than the previous year. We expect to purchase a microtome with a freezing attachment and oven for paraffin section work. This apparatus is for making microscopical sections of tissue to determine if there is any malignant growth such as cancer, etc.

In the Surgical Department there were 253 major and 427 minor operations, 151 normal deliveries and 2 caesarians during the year. New ceiling lights for the operating room have been installed and two stretcher carts have been purchased. There was also a specialist's chair purchased for nose and throat work and a new X-ray machine has also been ordered.

In our Maternity Department we had 155 babies, or 38 more than last year. There were two sets of twins.

We have shifted our nursery to the room on the north west corner of the second floor. This room is much larger and has windows on the south and west and a great deal more sunlight. Mrs. E. W. Brown, chairman of the Christian Church Aid tells me her organization has $500 together toward furnishing the nursery, which is very much appreciated, so in the near future we will have a well equipped nursery.

The Diabetic Department continues to give excellent services. Diet plays an important part of the treatment in modern medicine and our dietitian Miss Creelins, is expert in carrying out any instructions as demanded by our physicians. The Passavant Aid have given us a much needed steam table to be put in the pavilion diet kitchen. We will be able to start using this steam table before the first of the month. The extension of the kitchen and dining room, 18 feet to the north has been completed during the year.

Our isolation building in its first year took care of 31 patients, and gave them 314 days of care. There were eleven different kinds of diseases. German measles and Scarlet Fever accounted for about half of the work.

The usual painting and repair of the hospital has been maintained. All the boilers with the exception of the one for the laundry are in good shape. By the addition of a new high pressure boiler to our heating system, our laundry problem will be solved. The improvements for the year cost about $3,322.50.

At Chattanooga the hospital had a convalescent first aid service, rest room for friends and recreation for our nurses.

National Hospital Day was again observed with a community picnic. We also had the Commencement exercises for our School of Nursing. Rev. Harry B. Lewis of this city, being the speaker of the day.

In our Staff we regret to say that we lost the services of one of our oldest members, thru the death of Dr. A. J. Ogram. Dr. George Drennan became a member of the Staff during the past year.

Our past years record with its large increase in the number of patients shows very clearly that the hospital is growing rapidly and that it will only be but a very short time before we will have to have an addition as it is difficult now to find beds for our patients.

We will also have to have an addition to the Nurse's Home as six are housed in the hospital and six are living outside.

The hospital has a well organized personnel and with the cooperation it has enjoyed in the past, I can see no reason why it should not be very successful in the coming year.

Respectfully yours,

Ernest G. McKay, Supt.

Report Dean Training School To the Trustees of Passavant Hospital, as Dean of the Training School, I beg to submit the following report:

This year just ended has been one of activity for our Training School. We are trying to adjust ourselves to the new arrangement whereby, our school became affiliated with the Illinois Woman's College. By this affiliation the student nurses may not only procure a diploma of graduation as a nurse but they may at the same time secure a literary degree. To do this they must attend two years as students in the Woman's College, then take three years in the Training School for Nurses in Passavant Hospital. Some of our nurses are anxious to avail themselves of this privilege, or at least desire to obtain a literary degree.

We have one graduate nurse who is now doing her third year in Illinois College. Having decided she needed a literary degree, she took up her work in Illinois College after she graduated from our Training School. Such ambition is certainly praiseworthy, and no doubt it will enable her to qualify as an officer in a Training School. The affiliation of our Training School with the Woman's College gives our student nurses, even those who do not avail themselves of the literary course, certain advantages, such as free access to the swimming pool, and other recreations. The students of the Woman's College in turn have the privilege to receive certain studies in our Training School.

The work for the student nurses has been strenuous during the past year, because of large numbers of patients in the hospital. Then, too, we have not had the full quota of student nurses in our Training School and as a result we have had more sickness among the student nurses. When we remember that the student nurses now in training were children of 10 to 14 years of age when the epidemic of Influenza swept over this section in 1918 and 1919 it may be possible that as a class these nurses have less resistance than former classes, even though they pass rigid entrance examinations and were in apparently good health, yet during the past year a larger number than usual were unable to endure the strenuous work as required in our Training School, as a consequence several were sick for various periods.

The Medical Staff finally appointed a committee to recommend ways and means for overcoming this tendency. A complete report together with recommendations will be presented to the Executive Committee, but it can be stated here that it is recommended that more thorough entrance examinations be made and that an examination be made at stated intervals during their year while in training. That their food be such as to enhance their physical well being. That their recreation be supervised and their working hours shortened, with these recommendations enforced it is hoped that the general health of our pupil nurses may be improved. The foregoing may be construed as constructive criticism of our Training School, and these will no doubt be carried out by the hospital as conditions justify.

But the question of hours of service of our pupil nurses may be of special interest to you as Trustees. If the hours of service of the pupil nurses are reduced to eight hours per day as they are in many hospitals, it will mean more pupil nurses to do the required work in our growing hospital. It will mean more dormitory accommodations for this greater number because our dormitory is over-crowded now. So while you plan new buildings for a greater hospital, you must include in your plans greater accommodations for our pupil nurses.

The routine class work has been carried out according to schedule, the members of the Medical Staff have given their best services unflinchingly. The moral of our pupils was never better. Everything has worked harmoniously to make our nurses more efficient and our Training School more thorough.

(Signed) H. C. Williamson, M. D., Dean of Training School

Passavant Aid Society Mr. President and Members of the Board:

The Christian Church Passavant Aid Society have met regularly during the year, and shown much interest in the hospital. During the summer months 120 bouquets or placed in rooms at the hospital by different members of the society.

The following is a report of work accomplished:

Made and donated 50 tray cloths.

Made 7882 surgical dressings.

Gave 1 dozen vases at Thanksgiving.

Gave 1 dozen vases at Christmas time.

Collected 156 jars of fruit and vegetables; 8 glasses of jelly; 2 bushel of apples; $2 in cash for fruit.

The Society served meals at the Auto Show, and gave a tea and Parcel Post sale to benefit the hospital.

We now have $500.00 to begin furnishing the new Nursery.

Watkins Advises Ex-Soldiers to Not Go Thru Loaning "Red Tape"

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (AP)—

Rather than go through the "red tape" and submit to embarrassment incident to securing loans on Soldiers Bonus bonds, holders of certificates should keep them until they fall due. For C. Watkins, department commander of the American Legion for Illinois, said in a statement here.

"Now that loans are being made on Federal adjusted Compensation certificates," the statement said, "sufficient time has elapsed to properly judge the value of this type of so-called bonus."

"From six years active contact with service men throughout Illinois, I am convinced that the insurance form of adjusted compensation with the loan feature and paid up privilege in twenty years is superior to cash payment. It would be well for all who can do so to put their certificates away and forget them until they become due. A payment of from $1,000 to $2,000 when men have reached fifty years of age will be of greater benefit than at present.

"There are instances where the cash payment would be of immediate help, but all in all, it is my belief that the adjusted service certificate with its insurance provision rather than cash is a successful and satisfactory means by which the government has rewarded its soldiers."

This year is the last in which applications may be made for certificates, said Erwin Albee, service officer of the Illinois Legion. "There are no figures immediately available," he said, "as to how many ex-service men have applied for it or how many were entitled to it. But we find ever day some veteran who has not made application. The time limit is Jan. 1, 1928."

Conservatory Notes

The second semester of the Conservatory will open on February 1st and final registration will take place Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 31st and February 1st. Director Kraupner will be in his office every day and will be glad to see students who wish to register and will confer with them in regard to their prospective work. Regular work will be resumed on Wednesday, February 2nd when all classes and courses will open.

Mr. Leo Schwing head of the violin department, will open with the new semester a new course offering class lessons in violin at special rates. This course will grant special opportunity to little beginners and students up to high school age.

Mr. Edward Sacerdote, of Chicago, the eminent coach and vocal teacher continued his master class here last Sunday. Misses Meribah Moore, Louise Frost, Lorraine Dewese, Mmes.

Why Studebaker Crankshafts are Best!

120 blows per second
7,200 blows per minute
432,000 blows per hour
4,000 pounds force in every blow

THESE figures indicate the force of the explosions which the crankshaft of a Big Six motor must convert into an even flow of useful power.

No other car in its price field uses such an expensive crankshaft as Studebaker.

Each one is forged from a single block of steel in Studebaker's own shops.

Each one is fully machined and dynamically balanced. Balance is so perfect that if suspended with a fan at one end a slight breeze will cause the one hundred pound mass of steel to revolve smoothly.

How to Judge a Crankshaft

Some engineers favor light crankshafts with many bearings. Studebaker uses a heavy shaft with four bearings, but those four have greater bearing surface than the seven bearings of many other cars.

Some seek to attain with bolted-on counterweights the inherent balance which Studebaker builds into its shaft.

What Lincoln Said

"How long should a man's legs be?"
"Long enough to reach the ground," replied Lincoln.

Similarly what counts in a crankshaft is the smooth, vibrationless flow of power which it yields—its ruggedness, its freedom from trouble. These may be attained in various ways. The layman's opinion on technical matters of design is worth little.

How the Layman Can Judge

But any layman can judge as to the performance of various types of crankshafts. You know as well as any expert whether the engine is running smoothly at all speeds.

Test a Studebaker against any other make of car—six or eight cylinder—with a heavy crankshaft or a light one—with many bearings or few—with or without bolted-on counterweights. Ride in any car at any price and you will find that there is no sweeter running engine than the Studebaker.

We would not have any records of so many Studebakers driven 100,000 to 500,000 miles each if Studebaker crankshafts were not superlatively efficient.

Drive a Studebaker and let performance prove to you that the crankshaft has bearings and everything else perfectly proportioned to the job to be done.

PAINTER OF ROYALTY HAD DIFFICULT TASK

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Painting the faces and figures of royalty in oils is a difficult task, judged from reminiscences just published by Prof. L. Tuxen, famous Danish court photographer who two years ago visited the United States.

"I won't sit near the Battenburgs; I'd rather not be in the picture than do so," proclaimed the late Duchess of Connaught, on one occasion, as quoted by Prof. Tuxen. Likewise the demure Princess of Wales, late Queen Alexandra, would not sit next to the German crown prince, later Emperor Frederick, father of former Kaiser Wilhelm. Alexandra also refused to speak German.

Group Picture Troublesome

The royal squabbling occurred after Tuxen was commissioned by Queen Victoria to paint a huge picture of all her royal kinsfolk gathered at Windsor in July, 1887, to celebrate her jubilee. There were sixty odd royal personages to be painted and Tuxen had to group them according to rank.

When the mighty broadside of canvas was finally finished the crown princess, Frederick's spouse, who considered herself something of an artist, demanded flowers in her hair, and she painted them in with her own hands.

She was highly displeased with Tuxen's conception of the nose of the Prince of Wales, later King Edward of England. Tuxen repainted it time after time and finally produced a delicate shape which suited her royal fancy.

Frederick Good "Sitter"

Tuxen emphasized the charm of Frederick who although marked by death and with no voice left, patiently posed hour after hour. The picture, begun at Windsor Castle, was finally finished at Osborne House on the Isle of Wight.

"During these sittings the crown princess conducted angry discussions concerning which medical treatment would be best for the crown prince," said Tuxen. "One was tempted to ask whether it wouldn't be possible to allow the doomed man to die in peace."

Many royal sitters for the great family portrait brought photographs to Tuxen because they were not willing to give the time for more than one sitting.

"Like Shylocks, the photographers had cut out lumps of flesh by drastic retouching," he said. "The royal folk much preferred this to any real likeness of their own figure, for it was the heyday of the corset."

Welfare organizations which served the American forces in the World War will go to Paris in 1927 for their ninth annual convention of the American Legion. The service rendered to the veterans on the second trip over by the accredited welfare organizations will be typical of that given in war days, such as first aid at the ports of embarkation, debarkation and in Paris; interpreters; aid to women traveling alone in passing through customs and finding their places on the 50 special trains from the ports to Paris; information bureaus; advice on points of interest in Paris and Europe; aid at the six American cemeteries the Legionaires will visit; shopping information, and the selling of doughnuts and coffee as in the days of the A. College of Music Notes

H. A. Welcome, accompanied by Mrs. Welcome, played a group of violin numbers for the D. A. R. on Tuesday. The selections were "Hymn to the Sun" by Rimsky-Korsakow and "Schoen Rosmarin" by Kreisler.

Pupils of Miss Mamula McGhee have appeared in public recently as follows: Howard Brown, of Bulls, Ill., in the High School Literary society of that town on Wednesday evening; Rhoda Olds, for the Pocatowas lodge Wednesday night, the Andre & Andre banquet later in the evening and for the Rebekah lodge No. 13 on Friday night; also Virginia Morgan, pupil of Mr. Welcome, and Eloise Self, pupil of Miss Moore, appeared on the same program; Anna Margaret Vannier for the music class of the High school on Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Meribah Moore has been engaged as soloist by the Chamber of Commerce for the Wednesday morning session, February 9, of the annual convention of Farmers and Grain Dealers association which is holding its state convention in Jacksonville.

The College choir will contribute music for the Woman's club on February 12.

Two interesting recitals were given at the College of Music on Thursday and Friday evenings of the past week, the first given by high school students in voice, violin and piano, and the second by twenty-two boys and young men of the preparatory department. The latter proved to be quite a unique affair and drew a large audience. Both recitals brought forth a number of unusually talented and well trained young men and women.

Miss Viva Faye Richardson of the faculty will present a Vesper piano recital on Sunday afternoon, February 20.

Russell Standley and Walter Standley of Joy Prairie were visitors here yesterday.

Miss Faye Beddingfield was a shopper here yesterday from Joy Prairie.

Tomorrow's Trend

Just as the first Chrysler initiated today's vogue

ROYAL SEDAN

$1595

F. O. B. DETROIT

In the light of past Chrysler achievements it is easy to appreciate the full significance of the finer Chrysler "70".

It is easy to understand how its distinctive style and smartness forecast a fresh vogue in motoring.

Three years ago the first Chrysler with its previously unknown measures of performance, and a host of refinements and improvements new to the industry at its price, created a new school of design, which others promptly emulated.

And now, this finer "70" with its more exquisitely graceful bodies, its greater luxury, its smaller wheels and its more attractive color blendings—and its new low prices—further widens the gap between itself and the conventional and commonplace.

Joined to Chrysler's characteristic speed and pick-up, unvarying dependability and enduring long life, proved by hundreds of thousands of owners, this new eye-compelling beauty and alluring luxury and comfort, leave today's trend as far behind as the original Chrysler "70" advanced beyond the styles of three years ago.

Everyone says—
Buick is Reliable

Buick reliability is one reason why the majority of new Buicks every year are purchased by old Buick owners.

Buick is the car with the Sealed Chassis, which encases every operating part inside an iron or steel housing, to keep out dirt.

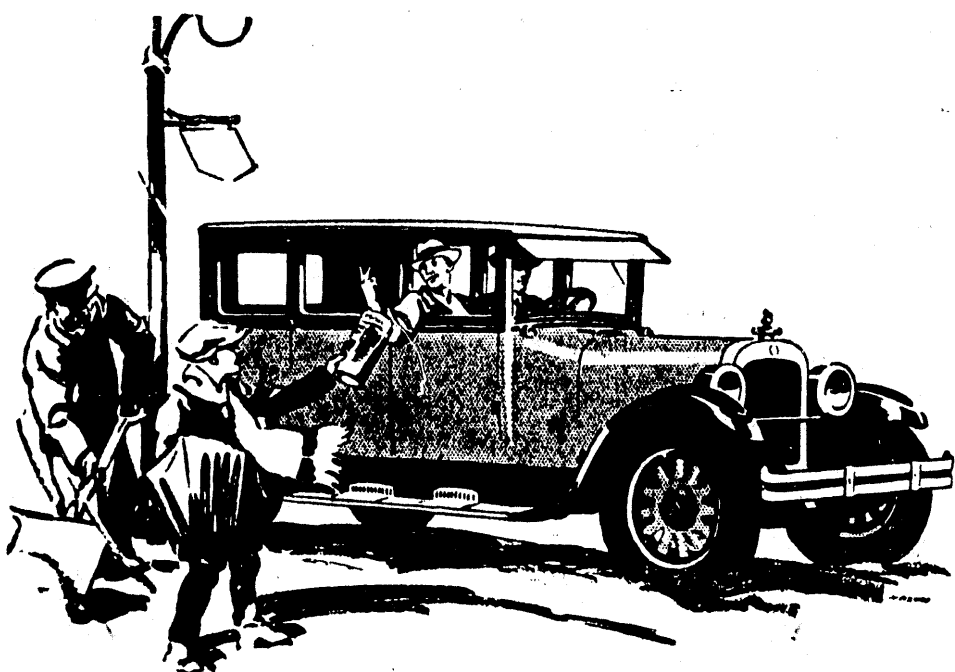

Buick is the car with the high-speed starting motor, for reliability in starting—with mechanical 4-wheel-brakes, for certainty in stopping—and with a six-cylinder, valve-in-head engine, for engine performance that is the envy of the motor car industry.

Buy a Buick! It is a more dependable and more enjoyable motor car.

"My trouble began on my face and left arm with large, red pimples that itched and burned causing me to scratch. Scratching caused eruptions, and my clothing affected the breaking out on my arm so that I had to keep my arm bandaged. The trouble lasted three months. I tried other remedies without success. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they helped me, and after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Martha E. Finstad, 2017 Baxter Ave., Superior, Wis.

Use Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum to promote and maintain skin purity, skin comfort and skin health; the Soap to cleanse and purify, the Ointment to soothe and heal, the Talcum to powder and refresh.

STORY HOUR IS HELD AT PUBLIC LIBRARY

The regular Saturday morning story hour was held in the Children's Department of the Jacksonville Public Library yesterday morning at 10:00 o'clock.

Miss Hatt, the Children's Librarian, told stories in connection with the Valentine season, besides the regular fairy stories.

ILLINOIS COLLEGE CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Registration for the second semester at the conservatory will take place at Academy Hall, Monday and Tuesday, January 31st and February 1st. The beginning of the second semester furnishes an excellent opportunity to commence work with the strong faculty of this school.

Besides the regular courses in piano, organ, violin, cello, public school music and band instruments, a new course offering class lessons in violin at special rates will start at opening of new semester.

Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Ryan of Alexander expect to leave Monday for Los Angeles, Calif., where they will spend the remainder of the winter.

HISTORICAL MATTER
GIVEN TO COLLEGE

Illinois College has recently received a number of valuable, old programs, photographs and other documents relating to the history of Illinois College from Mrs. Truman P. Carter.

Among the most interesting and valuable of these old documents are two circulars relating to the Underground Railway through Jacksonville. The circulars called a mass meeting of Jacksonville citizens to protest against the rescue of a slave by some Illinois College students. Among the documents is also the diploma awarded to Miss Juliana Wolcott by the Jacksonville Female Academy on June 24, 1845. Miss Wolcott became the wife of William Chumney Carter. It is the plan of the College authorities to have set aside in the proposed new library building a room for the preservation and display of all material relating to the history of the College.

During the years that President Rammelkamp has been connected with Illinois College, he has been gathering a large amount of such historical material. Much of it will be of great interest, especially when it is properly displayed.

E. E. Hart was a Sinclair visitor in Jacksonville yesterday.

"And on that extra margin of precision in manufacture is based that extra measure of satisfaction which every Oakland owner enjoys"

Probably no other car of equal price is built to such exacting standards as the Greater Oakland Six. Only two American-built automobiles have diamond-bored piston pin bushings—and one is the Greater Oakland Six. In only one other car are all rotating parts balanced from transmission to rear axle—and that is a car selling for twice Oakland prices.

Throughout the entire Oakland chassis you will discover numerous equally impressive examples of not merely the precision of good construction—but the super-precision of fine craftsmanship. And on that extra margin of precision in manufacture is based that extra measure of satisfaction which every Oakland owner enjoys.

Everywhere the Greater Oakland Six is winning good will because it offers such exceptional features as bodies by Fisher in beautiful Duco colors, the Rubber-Silenced Chassis, four-wheel brakes, adjustable full pressure oiling, and the like. And it is holding good will because it has been—and always will be—built with the scrupulous care and exactness, which is always the distinguishing mark of a truly fine car and which always results in better operation over a longer period of time.

Oakland Six, $1025 to $1295. Pontiac Six, companion to Oakland Six, $825 to $975. Bodies by Fisher. All prices at factory. Easy to pay on the General Motors Time Payment Plan.

MISS BONANSINGA
TO PLAY PRINCESS

Miss Anna Bonansinga, the star of last year's K. of C. show, "The Cameo Girl", has been selected this year to play the Princess Claire, the title role in "The Madcap Princess", the spectacular operetta to be staged at the Grand Theatre Feb. 7 & 8th.

Miss Bonansinga, it will be remembered, made a delightful Cameo Girl last year and this year her voice is richer and fuller, she being at the Illinois

Woman's College and specializing in cultivating her voice. Playing opposite Miss Bonansinga will be Maurice Sullivan, a new comer to Jacksonville, although he has already made his bow to Jacksonville audiences, for he played several parts and did nearly all of the male solo dancing in the State Pageant at the hospital grounds last summer. He is a member of the Dramatic Club at Illinois College and a treat is in store for those who will see the Production.

In staging this year's production the local lodge of the Knights of Columbus are making a big bid for popular favor. "The Madcap Princess" is more of a light opera, being patterned after such current plays as "The Student Prince", "The Princess Flavia", etc., but is easily in the reach of amateur performers. The scenery is lovely and the costumes are beautiful and a rare treat is in store for the Jacksonville Theatre-going public.

One of the choruses is "The Old Fashioned Grandmothers." It is composed of the following: Evelyn Cannon, Gertrude Hamilton, Grace Hamilton, Marie Carrigan, Louise Hodapp, Bernice Mayfield.

BIBLE READING
FEATURES REVIVAL

A special feature of the revival services being conducted at the Murrayville M. E. church was an all day bible reading Friday. This was under the leadership of Rev. Oscar F. Jones. The reading began at three a. m., and continued on throughout the day, taking 16 hours and 28 minutes for the 77 readers to read the 7,069 verses of the 260 chapters of the new testament. The reading was concluded at 7:20 p. m., being 32 minutes before the estimated goal.

After the reading Rev. Jones led the singing "Good Night" and "Good Morning." The subject of the sermon was "The Man Who Swears."

The meetings will likely be concluded Saturday.

Rev. Randle pastor of the church, who has been ill for the past ten days at Passavant Hospital is reported to be improving.

Hawaii plans to send a team to the Pan-Pacific swimming meet in Japan next summer. A Hawaiian team also is expected to participate.

WOMAN CAPTAINS PORT OF MISSING SAILORS

NEW YORK—The Captain of the Port of Missing Men is a woman—a woman without a single son, but with men afloat on seven seas who call her "mother."

She is Mrs. Jane Lord Roper, house mother at the Seamen's Church Institute, New York City. She has heard more versions of "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" than any other person still in active service.

During the last year, 3,000 wanderers have popped up "Here" when she has called their names.

That's her job—finding missing men. But it is not the limit of her interests, as thousands of sailors have attested whom she has helped through illness, poverty, joblessness and friendliness.

A tall, spare woman of New England, with eyes wide with tolerance, the house mother at the establishment now housing twelve-story quarters at the tip of Manhattan Island, began her work of a friend to wanderers when she was 16 years old. She distributed religious tracts in the Deepwater Sailor Rooming houses in Boston.

"When I saw men drinking and gambling," she said, "some feeling of consideration made me think that the arrival of a woman, especially a missionary, might be embarrassing. So I always heralded my visits with an obvious cough, and it was amusing to see their sheepish faces as the men scooped up the cards and hid them."

Sailors' Love for Fellows
"Times have changed now," she added. "Now I don't suppose that anyone feels even a missionary can be shocked."

"This work teaches tolerance, though. When I was twenty years old I could tell a man just what his duty was. Now it isn't so easy. One can learn something now and then from the boys themselves, and the talk of some of my radical and agnostic friends could make your hair curl."

"But there is one fundamental that never has changed: love. One's fellowman is a name today as it was 2,000 years ago. The sailors cling to that."

Love, indeed, is what makes the Port of Missing Men a cherished place. Somebody—a mother, father, sister, brother, or sweetheart—has lost track of a wandering boy.

And Mrs. Roper, with requests from all over the world, acts as times out and draws him in.

"Next of Kin" to Many
For her services, but more usually for her friendship, many sailors have named her "next of kin," and one such "son," dying in a hospital, was a colored boy.

Mrs. Roper, the widow of a clergyman who joined her in her work among sailors, has been with the local Church Institute since it took over its present headquarters twelve years ago. Before then the Institute was a floating barge. Trained to meet any emergency the house mother has encountered odd sides of her multitudes of wards. Recently a seaman handed her $18 with a request that a notice be posted for one Pat Breen.

"I stuck a gun in his ribs a week ago and took his roll," explained the seaman. "But I don't enjoy the kale. See that he gets it back, will you?"

And Mrs. Roper did.

SHAVING MUG PASSES
AS SOCIAL REGISTER

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Back in the days when Ward McAllister's "400" was the only recognized social register in the East, the middle West had its own way of identifying the socially select. Strangely enough, its pastime has been almost unmarked.

In the so-called nifty "nifties" the register of eligible males in most middle western towns was to be found on the carefully guarded shelves of tonsorial emporiums. Here, row on row, sat the private shaving mugs of the town's prominent, and across each was the owner's name, usually in elaborate script.

Hold "Rank" On Shelf
The town barber frequently possessed a quiet, unpretentious mug. It had the center position on the top shelf. Possibly on the second shelf, just below, sat the mug of the town sport in all its pristine glory, ornately gilded and colored. From these, the mugs of other less prominent citizens—the merchants, the local proprietor, and so on—stretched on either side. It was a picture as well as informative display.

But now, like Ward McAllister's list, the private mugs are passing. New fundancies which eliminate the shaving mug altogether have come into their own.

Some Barbers Blame Women
Some Kansas City barbers blame women's invasion of the shops. Others declare that masculine patrons are not as particular now and do not always visit the same shop as they were wont to do when business was transacted in more leisurely fashion.

Still others said the need for the mugs had passed; that they came into being as the result of someone's belief they would be more sanitary.

In a few small towns the private mugs still survive, but in the main they are gone. Many barbers record their passing along with that of the bloomer girl, the moustache cup, the family carriage, the quill toothpick and other manifestations of the "good old days."

Mrs. Edna Sorrells of Woodson was a shopper in the city yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ferguson of Strawn's Crossing were visitors here yesterday.

Jack Lockwill at Rocklax Academy By Gilbert Patter

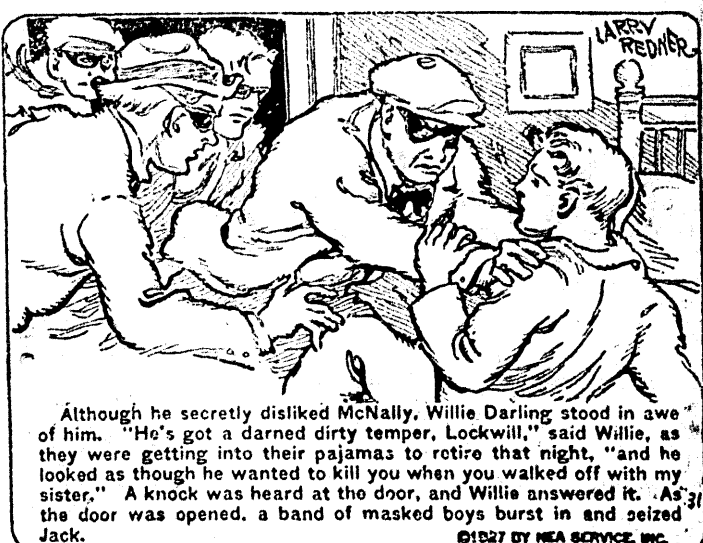

McNally came up boldly and stepped between Jack and Betty with insistent assurance. "How about that game of tennis that I suggested, Miss Darling?" he said. "I'm sorry, Mr. McNally," she answered, flashing Jack a meaning glance, "but Mr. Lockwill and I are going to play now." As she walked away with Jack, the Bad Egg glared at the freshman's back. Betty's brother hid a grin behind his hand.

Jack was delighted by Betty's skill and grace on the tennis court. Of course he gallantly let her beat him by a narrow margin. Other fellows watched him with envy, for already Betty had attracted attention. "It's evident that that fresh from Lockwill must be suppressed," said the Grand Vizier.

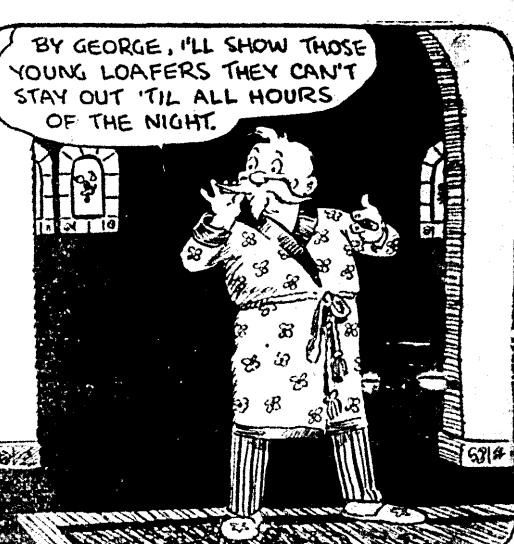

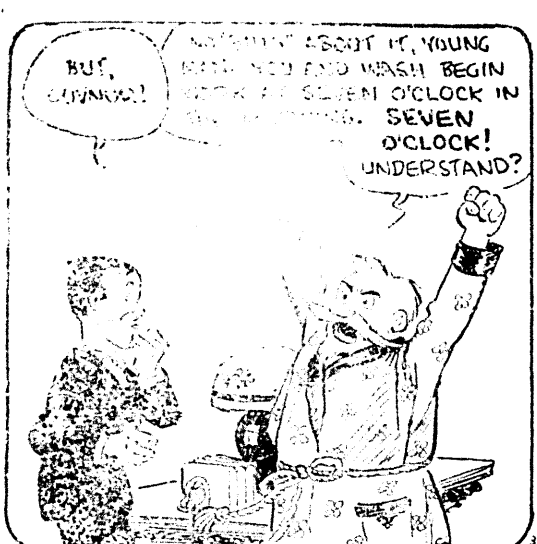

"The sooner he is the better," put in Tom McNally, who had joined the group. "Let's give him a razzing that'll scare him stiff. Then we can warn him to watch his step." The others agreed that what the freshman needed was a proper hazing. They put their heads together, and plotted.

Although he secretly disliked McNally, Willie Darling stood in awe of him. "He's got a damned dirty temper, Lockwill," said Willie, as they were getting into their pajamas to retire that night, "and he looked as though he wanted to kill you when you walked off with my sister." A knock was heard at the door, and Willie answered it. As the door was opened, a band of masked boys burst in and seized Jack.

The Value of Reputation

The value of a man is what he does, the worth he shows the world. He may be ever so good inside. If he doesn't prove it, he's worthless.

The value of a watch, a skillet, an automobile, is what it does, the worth it shows its user. It may be of highest serving power. If it can't prove it, it's useless. The reputation of any product is the known proof of its worth. The value of that known proof is that you can recognize it.

When you buy an advertised watch or skillet, you buy value with a reputable manufacturer's name behind it. You don't have to wait till you use it to know it. The qualities which made it advertisable have proved the worth for you. You need only ask for the product by name. Fastened securely to that name are quality, service, satisfaction.

Read the advertisements. They familiarize you with established reputations.

Williamsville Winner Of Ashland Tourney

Upsets Auburn In Final Round 23-17

Unleashing a powerful attack from the start of the game, Williamsville high school won the Ashland invitation tournament last night by upsetting all the odds to win over Auburn 23 to 17. Greenview lost to Beardstown in another upset, the Cass county quintet downing the powerful upstate five with a score of 29 to 21.

Playing to huge excited audiences, Ashland's annual tournament was a big success, both from the sportsmanship and financial end of the meet. The crowds were easily handled, the participants showed excellent sportsmanship and officiating was the best.

The entire tournament abounded in upsets, starting back in the first round when Williamsville upset the odds to win over Virdean, Beardstown over Waverly and Franklin, Auburn over Ashland and then again in the semi-final round when Auburn flashed out ahead of Greenview and Williamsville took the honor from Beardstown.

The two evening games were upsets, Greenview being given long odds to win over Beardstown and Auburn favored to win over Williamsville.

Following the close of the tournament, officials met and selected a first and second team.

Williamsville Whips Auburn
Tired from their strenuous game with Greenview in the afternoon and showing the effects of one hard game, Auburn slipped into the rear in the first quarter under the powerful goal shooting of the Williamsville forwards and never emerged. Williamsville, fresh from their afternoon game with Beardstown, dashed out to an 8 to 3 lead in the first quarter.

Speeding up to a faster rate in the second period, Auburn forced itself within a two point margin of the Williamsville five, the period ending 12 to 10. Again the Williamsville attack surged over the Auburn cagers and at the end of the third quarter had pulled out to a 19 to 15 lead. Auburn continued to weaken during the last quarter and Williamsville gleefully piled up points.

Beardstown Upsets Greenview
The opening game of the evening prepared the fans for what was to come, Greenview losing to Beardstown with a score of 29 to 21. Greenview likewise showed the effects of the strenuous game of the afternoon grind and failed to get into action early.

Beardstown, with Grey and Adkins hot on the basket, swept into a 15 to 3 lead at the end of the first quarter.

The game was predicted to be the best of the tournament and it was. Auburn took the lead at the end of the first quarter with a 5 to 0 count, the veteran Smargiassi leading his troopers through the first round in flashing style. Auburn lengthened the lead a little in the second period and when it closed the score was 10 to 13. Both teams scored a field basket in the third period, it ending with a score of 15 to 12. Then Meehan, Greenview, began hitting the hoop with overhand, underhand and long one arm shots from any position. The last period was the fastest of the tournament, Greenview edging up to a tie score and lead, but Brown tied the score as the gun ended the period. In the first overtime period, neither team scored, but when the second period was two minutes and fifty seconds, old Smargiassi made the toss that won for his team.

Williamsville Beats Beardstown
Williamsville made a flying start for the right to play in the championship round by shutting out Beardstown in the first period.

Williamsville began hitting the hoop in the last period and with him as an inspiration, the entire Greenview team began hitting but the rally started too late.

Auburn Beats Greenview
Auburn's best was none too good for the first game of the semi-final round of the tournament as it took two overtime periods for the Gilbert coached machine to batter a two point victory over Greenview with a score of 21 to 19. Auburn led all through the game but with Meehan banging the ball at the hoop from all angles in the last period, Auburn came from behind to get a new lease on the game, only to lose it in the second overtime period when Smargiassi threw one through the hoop from the sidelines and near the basket.

The first quarter. Fans were unable to believe their eyes but still held out that Greenview would come out winner. The Greenview defense tightened in the second quarter and some of the difference in the scoring was taken up. The half ended 17 to 6, Beardstown.

Beardstown tightened up the defense and began stalling for time at the beginning of the second half, affording them a better opportunity to work the ball down the floor for close shots. At the end of the third quarter the Beardstown team was in the lead with a 25 to 8 score.

Meehan began hitting the hoop in the last period and with him as an inspiration, the entire Greenview team began hitting but the rally started too late.

White Hall, Jan. 29. (Special)—Finding their basket eye in the last quarter of the game here tonight, the White Hall high school team emerged victorious over Brighton after trailing at the end of the third quarter with a score of 15 to 9. Corder was the leader in the rally, hitting the hoop consistently during the closing minutes of the game.

Both teams were sadly off in the basket shooting department of the game and failed to show any real basketball. White Hall took the lead at the end of the first quarter with a score of 2 to 0. At the end of the half the score was tied at 4 all with both teams fighting hard. Brighton took the lead at the end of the third quarter which ended with a score of 9 to 8, but Corder began finding the hoop and White Hall won by shooting in eight points during the closing session.

CRUICKSHANK LEADS IN OPEN GOLF MEET
Takes Two Stroke Lead Over Nearest Competitor Muddy Course—Three Men Tied for Second Place.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Jan. 29. (AP)—Bobby Cruickshank, of Purchase, N. Y., with a total of 144, led the field tonight at the end of the first 36 holes of the 72 hole Texas open golf tournament.

The New York professional will start the 36 holes over the Willow Springs course tomorrow with an advantage of two strokes over his nearest rival, Jack Burke of Houston, Texas. Mike Brady of Mamaroneck, N. Y., and Bill Melhorn of Los Angeles, who tied for second place today with scores of 146.

S. W. Hutchinson of Oklahoma City, Leonard Schmutte of Lima, Ohio, and Waldo Crowder of Shreveport, La., stroked their way to a tie at 147 and Frank Walsh of Appleton, Wis., holed his final put for 148.

Edwin Juelge of Mercedes, Texas, who proved a threat earlier in the day fell down on the final stroke and took a 79 to tie with Archie Loeffler of San Antonio at 151.

Frank Brokl of St. Paul was in the ranking amateur with 153. Cruickshank blasted steadily away at the mud, finishing the morning round with a par 71, one stroke ahead of his nearest competitor and doubling his advantage on the afternoon round. His score stuck close to par figures on every hole in the morning but he weakened slightly in the afternoon. His card:

PHELAN LOOMS AS PURPLE GRID MENTOR
CHICAGO, Jan. 29. (AP)—Jimmy Phelan, head football coach at Purdue university tonight became a possibility as the successor to Glenn Thistlethwaite at Northwestern university as negotiations with Dr. Clarence W. Spears, the Minnesota coach started to fade out. Phelan, a former star quarterback at Notre Dame, during Knute Rockne's gridiron career, has had considerable success with Purdue's gridiron material.

Purdue's team made a more impressive showing against the Navy last year than did Michigan and also took a 100 yard swimming record in a high school boys meet at the University of Pennsylvania.

His time for the distance was 55.8 seconds, one fifth of a second slower than the outdoor mark established at Honolulu by Tia Kealoha, who claims the world's record.

Dr. Spears left tonight for Minneapolis with a promise to consider Northwestern's offer and make known his decision possibly by Monday.

"FAN BREEZES"

This is your column too; send in your contributions.

In our perusal of several newspapers we came across a statement that Art Bergstrom handled the game between Pekin and Peoria Manual at Pekin Friday night. In spite of what the local fans thought about the refereeing in the J. H. S. Pekin bout, it is evident that Coach "Frenchy" Haussler of the Peoria tribe was satisfied.

And it also shows that "Swede" is getting up in the big time.

We talked to the "Swede" about the game yesterday and he said it had been a tough battle from start to finish, the first half being especially close.

Pekin won 27 to 17, and Peoria Manual is due to appear on the local court soon.

In spite of the broadcasted demise of Merle Rife from Bradley Tech athletic circles, he was much in the game against Augustana the other night. However, the "Terrible Swedes" came through on the long end of a 42 to 27 score.

Illinois college has three tough foes to meet for certain. State Normal, Eureka and Lincoln are to appear on the local court. State Normal lost to Eureka Friday night with a 34 to 35 score. Smith, Normal center, failing to chalk up two tries from the free throw line after gathering in 15 of his team's points. The chance came in the last minute.

Mascoutah Scout News

Court of Honor.
Court of Honor will be held at the Central Christian church on Tuesday evening February 1st, at 7:30 o'clock. A number of boys will come before the Court for their badges in second class and merit badge rank. The parents of the Scouts are urged to attend.

Efficiency Contest.
The monthly report cards will be mailed from headquarters on Monday, January 31st. These cards must be returned to scout headquarters by the fifth of next month in order to receive credit in the efficiency contest. A number of the troops are falling down in the contest because of their failure to turn in troop news. February is the last lap of the contest and every troop should put forth every effort to carry home the bronze Woolston shield.

New Troops.
A new troop was organized at the School for the Blind. This troop will be known as troop number twelve and is made up of younger boys. This is the second troop to be organized at the School for the Blind. Both troops are under the leadership of James Gregg, a graduate of the Scout Leaders training course held last fall.

Troop number 9 held its first meeting Friday evening at the State Hospital. The troop has a total enrollment of twelve boys and promises an early growth in two full patrols of eight boys each. These two additional troops make a total of eight registered troops in the city of Jacksonville.

A bulletin will be sent out Monday from headquarters giving the particulars concerning Anniversary Week. This week promises to be one of fun and every Scout and Scoutmaster is expected to enter into the program with a great deal of zeal.

"On the Stretcher."

Rev. G. W. Randall, Scoutmaster troop one, was very seriously ill last week but much improved today. Paul Chumley, scout troop four, has a broken leg and is resting easy. Miss Loretta Kumle, secretary of scout headquarters will return to her duties Monday after several weeks illness.

"CHIEF SEZ."

Scout Wilbur was out on a hike with his troop one day and saw a peacock over in a farm yard. He ran up to see all out of breath and said: "Oh Chief, come quick. There's an old chicken over there in the yard that is in full bloom." Nuff sed.

Troop 1, Murrayville.
Troop number one held its weekly meeting in the church basement at 6:30 o'clock. A short business session was held after which the troop marched in a body to the revival meeting. The troop did its good turn last Friday night after school. A hike was taken Saturday to fill the requirements for the inter-troop efficiency contest.

James Hadden, Reporter.

Troop 2, Jacksonville.
Troop two met Monday evening for the purpose of reorganizing. Scout Executive M. H. Hollingsworth was present and helped in the reorganization. This troop is composed of the older group of boys at the school and promises to develop into a real live troop. Two of the scouts of the troop have completed their second class tests.

James Gregg, Reporter.

Troop 3, Jacksonville.
Troop three met Tuesday evening at the Congregational church. The new patrol leaders and officers took up their duties. Mr. Hollingsworth was present and explained the activities during Anniversary Week. The new names of patrols were given as follows: Bulls, Stag, Hawk and Bob Whites. Troop three is making an effort to step back into the shoes that it once had. A contest is beginning at the next meeting and we hope that it will aid us in getting back on our feet.

Jack Vickery, Reporter.

Troop 6, Jacksonville.
Troop six had a very good attendance at our meeting Monday evening. The meeting was called to order by the Senior Patrol leader. The troop gave the pledge of allegiance to the flag and then discussed plans for a basket ball game next Thursday evening. Patrol meetings will be held this week to make plans and to get some more members. It was the plan of the troop to put food and nuts out for the birds and squirrels as the troop's good turn for the month. Dues were collected and games played. The meeting adjourned by the repeating of the Scout benediction.

George Ashby, Reporter.

Troop 4, Jacksonville.
Troop four met at their regular headquarters at the Centenary church last Monday evening with ten boys present. The troop marched to the high school to see an educational picture and then returned to the troop meeting place and reviewed their second-class work. The troop has started a contest whereby any scout that does not advance will be placed in the Rip Van Winkle Patrol. The scouts are working hard to keep out of this patrol. Scout Paul Chumley fell at his home last week and broke his hip. He is now at Our Saviour's hospital and is getting along nicely.

F. P. Rehmler, Reporter.

Troop 7, Jacksonville.
Troop seven held their weekly meeting at the Grace M. E. church. An inter-patrol efficiency contest is in order and the patrols are working hard to win the prize. The contest is based on such requirements as, dues, good turn, attendance, advancement, personal appearance and conduct. The troop enjoyed a hike to Rowe's woods west of the city last week. Sixteen scouts were present on the hike and cooked their own meals. Some scouts found that they needed experience in starting a fire in the snow.

Andrew Rogers, Reporter.

Troop 8, Winchester.
The meeting of the Boy Scout troop eight was opened by the giving of the scout oath. The roll was answered by a county in Illinois and its county seat. Mr. Hollingsworth and Scout Greenleaf from Jacksonville were present. Inter-patrol contest was held. This was followed by short patrol meetings. We were led by Mr. Hollingsworth in taps and the scout benediction in closing.

N. J. Demerath, Reporter.

Troop 9, Jacksonville.
Troop nine held its first meeting last evening with Mr. Hollingsworth in charge. The Scoutmaster, Mr. May, will take charge beginning with our next meeting. Twelve boys were present and plans were made to sell sandwiches, Saturday, to get money to purchase our uniforms. The members of the troop committee were present and gave us an inspection. The Fox patrol was the most outstanding. However the Eagle patrol had the neatest boy. We have hopes of a good troop and will soon be competing with other troops of the Area in all contests. Meeting was closed by singing taps and repeating the scout benediction.

Russell Maxwell, Scribe.

Troop 10, Jacksonville.
Troop ten of the Central Christian church met Tuesday evening in the church basement with about 75 per cent attendance. Mr. Hoskins, our scoutmaster, was in charge. One of the troop committee members visited the troop during the meeting. In the business portion of the meeting a hike was planned for Jan. 29th. The remainder of the meeting was spent in games. Several of our troop is coming before the Court of Honor Tuesday evening for their badges. The meeting closed by singing taps.

Clifford Henderson, Reporter.

Troop 11, Virginia.
Troop number eleven, of Virginia, in the Mascoutah Area, met in their regular session last Tuesday evening with eighteen scouts present. After enjoying a period of singing, using the new books purchased by the troop recently, the regular program was carried

*Spend a Little More ~ and Have a Lot More ~
Buy GOOD Furniture*

SUPPOSE you are considering the purchase of an overstuffed suit! You have under consideration one at $150 and another at $225. Outwardly they look alike—and you naturally wonder why the difference in price.

But the difference is there!

The $225 suite undoubtedly has a better quality cover, one that will keep its tones and wear much longer. It has inner construction of a more substantial nature—built more rigidly with better materials. Its filling will probably be felt rather than excelsior and "sweepings."

For $75 more you get furniture that will last a lifetime rather than a few years. The added cost represents quality which means more lasting service.

Selling costs are governed by production costs. You pay more for quality in furniture just as for any other commodity but when you do you get longer, more satisfying service.

GOOD furniture is always less expensive in the long run.

We prefer to handle only GOOD furniture such as we know will keep your satisfied.

THESE ARE Ford FACTS NOT MERELY FIGURES

The Ford Motor Company Sold in the Year 1926

Over One Million Five Hundred Thousand Automobiles

As Near as We Can Learn the Next Closest Manufacturers' Production Was About 600,000

Nearly 1,000,000 More Ford Cars Sold Than Were Produced by Any Other Manufacturer

The basis upon which the Ford business has grown to be the greatest industrial enterprise in the world is "The Golden Rule." This principle, applied to all his dealings with the consuming public, has won and held for him the confidence of over fifteen million purchasers of FORD Cars, Trucks and Tractors.

Ford does not spend millions of dollars for magazine advertising which is charged back to the consumer. He does not spend millions of dollars for high priced sales promoters for which, of course, the buyer would have to pay.

Ford was the LAST manufacturer to advance prices of cars during the war. He was the FIRST to reduce prices after the war.

When Ford began building accessories, such as bumpers, Windshield wipers, stop-lights, etc., other manufacturers were forced to Cut Their Prices in Half.

When Ford entered the battery field, he brought prices down to nearly half of what they were before he began making them. Ford batteries are sold for $12.00 and can be used on nearly all makes of cars. There are none better.

What do the above mentioned facts mean to you? They mean that Ford is a man for the people, who is doing business on sound business principles. These principles make the best interests of the consumer their chief aim.

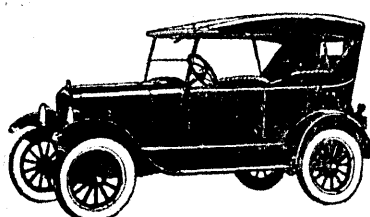

The public knows that every statement he makes can be relied upon as the truth and that he backs up what he says with all of his resources.

When he tells you an all Steel Body costs more to Build—it is the Truth. When he tells you that he uses only the very best of materials—it is the truth. When he tells you it costs more to build his planetary type transmission than it would to build a sliding gear type—it is the truth—and can be proven.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29. (AP)— Elimination of speculative excesses in Wheeling & Lake Erie common stock, combined with several favorable business developments, had a bullish effect on today's stock market which moved upward under the leadership of the high grade industrial and railroad shares. Final quotations disclosed a long list of net gains ranging from one to 7 1/2 points. With the needs of the time being fluctuations in Wheeling common narrowed down considerably but were still rather erratic in character.

The stock opened two points lower at 57, jumped to 63 and then back to 60. The preferred closed two points higher at 64 1/2.
After having touched 65 1/2. The New York stock exchange today began an investigation of circumstances surrounding the recent fluctuations in the common stock.

General Motors was actively bought for both accounts, the stock closing nearly three points higher at 151. Chrysler, Mack Trucks and Hudson showed net gains of one to 2 1/2 points.

U. S. Steel common rallied two points to 156 and Bethlehem closed nearly a point higher. Equipment rallied under the leadership of Baldwin and Pullman, each of which advanced at least three points.

Oils failed to make much response to the announcement of higher gasoline prices by the Standard Oil company of New Jersey but the undertone was firm. Commercial Solvents "B" scored an extension gain of 7 1/2 points, and Bush Terminal, National Supply and Freeport Texas sold at their highest prices in over a year.

Chesapeake & Ohio with a gain of four points was the leader in the railroad group, Atchafalaya,
New York Central, Southern Railway,
Union Pacific and several others advanced a point or more.

A late rally of over 10 points in Spanish prestas, which carried them to a new record high at 16.54, featured the foreign exchange market. Trading in other currencies was quiet, with changes narrow and irregular. Domestic sterling ruled around $4.84 9-10 and French francs around $3.92 1/2 cents.

A. J. LESLIE, 84, DIES AT MEREDOSIA

Long Time Resident of County Dies Friday Morning — Other Meredosia News Notes.

Meredosia, Jan. 29.—A. J. Leslie, aged 84 years and an old time and highly respected citizen of Meredosia passed away at his home in that place Friday morning after a brief illness of seven days. On last Saturday he had the misfortune to fall striking his side on a wheelbarrow which caused his illness to develop into pneumonia. While he had been in failing health for several years he was able to be up and around the home and to walk down town and the news of his death Friday morning was a shock to the community.

For a number of years he was engaged in the grain business in Meredosia until his health necessitated his retiring. As long as his health would permit he was an active member of Meredosia Benevolent Lodge, No. 52 A. F. & A. M. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Alta Pate and Mrs. Gertrude Sargent of Meredosia; also five grand children. His wife preceded him in death several years ago. A more complete obituary will be reported later.

News Notes
